PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT!

SPM READING &
WRITING MODULE
(CEFR-ALIGNED)

PREFACE

Practice Makes Perfect, SPM Reading & Writing Module (CEFR - Aligned) is the product of concerted endeavour by SISC+ Bahasa, Unit Pembelajaran PPD Muar in collaboration with Panel Perunding Matapelajaran (PPMP) Bahasa Inggeris Daerah Muar and Panel of Module Writers of Jawatankuasa Kerja Pemufakatan Kurikulum (JKKDPKD) Bahasa Inggeris Daerah Muar. The Panel of Module writers tasked to upgrade the district's performance as well as the JKKPKD members who have given commendable cooperation and undivided attention in our bid to come up with an instructional module that is able to facilitate an easy teaching and learning process. Indeed, the need for modules like this arises from the dearth of meritorious reference books and workbooks that focus on CEFR-aligned exercises pertinent to Reading and Writing.

It is our ardent hope that this module :

- Exposes the pupils to the new CEFR-aligned format pertaining to the 5 parts prevalent in Paper 1 of SPM 1119 Examination.
- Enhances the pupils' writing skills on par with the prerequisites underlined in all 3 parts in Paper 2 of SPM 1119 Examination.
- Evokes a modicum of confidence amongst educators and pupils alike.

Hereby, we would like to extend our gratitude to everyone involved for being a pillar of support to us throughout the duration of the Google Meets and Telegram Voice Chats that were held to make this project a reality. It is our hope that this module can be of great help to all English teachers and students in Muar District for SPM 2021.

Charlie, did you phone the plumber?

Yes, mum, I gave him a call two hours ago.

Could you please ring him again because there is just too much water being wasted – none of us know how to fix this burst pipe.

I've got an idea. Since our regular plumber is not available right now, what if I ask our neighbour for help? He did say he is quite a handyman.

That's a great idea! Tell him we are happy to pay for his time.

Okay!

6 Which of the following statements is true?

- A. Charlie's mother is upset that he is wasting a lot of water.

It was discovered that the factory was dumping the chemical waste from fabric dyes used to dye the carpets directly into Sungai Jerneh. A warrant has been issued for the owner of the company, who has gone hiding. 'It is lucky that we noticed the pollution before it got out of hand,' commented the Chief of Police.

SET 2

Question 1 to 8

Read the text carefully in each question. Choose the best answer A, B or C.

Dear Editor,

The other day, I went to a waterfall for a picnic with a few friends. I had gone there a few years ago and found the place to be beautiful and peaceful. However, this time, I was rather disappointed.

The forest area where the waterfall is located had lost part of its charm because of illegal logging. The forest had lost a lot of its trees. It was also very hot there. I was shocked to find the area surrounding the waterfall littered with rubbish.

Disappointed environment lover

1 Why was the writer disappointed?

- A. The forest no longer existed.
- B. People threw rubbish in the waterfall.
- C. The waterfall area was no longer beautiful.

GERIK: Recently, the Belum Conservation Malaysia (BCM) celebrated its 10th anniversary by planting 300 gaharu trees in the Belum-Temenggor Rainforest Complex.

The ceremony which was held on 9 July at the Belum Rainforest Resort on Pulau Banding in Gerik, Perak was attended by a number of famous TV personalities.

All the celebrities planted a portion of the 300 gaharu trees which were sponsored by an anonymous donor. They also pledged their support for environmental conservation through the BCM's Belum Forest Friends (BFF) initiative. The BFF initiative was launched earlier this year as part of an overall drive to get more Malaysians actively involved in rainforest conservation.

5 From the newspaper extract, we know that the celebrities

- A. paid for the gaharu trees.
- B. launched the BFF initiative.
- C. planted some of the gaharu trees.

Every morning, you wake up and brush your teeth. However, while brushing your teeth, you should turn off the tap. Only turn the tap back once it is time to rinse. You should also turn off the tap while washing your hands. First, wet your hands, then turn off the tap while you scrub your hands. Then, turn it back on when you are ready to rinse. It is also very important to fix leaky faucets. This can help to save a lot of water.

Besides Bahasa Malaysia and English, I am confident that Malaysian could and should master at least another language for their own benefit.

I must say that the debates over the language issue have reminded me of the late Datuk Mahadzir Lokman, the former TV3 newscaster and much sought-after emcee who could speak many languages including Bahasa Malaysia, English, Mandarin, Tamil and Hindi. He also had basic knowledge of Spanish, Italian, Portuguese, Greek and Japanese.

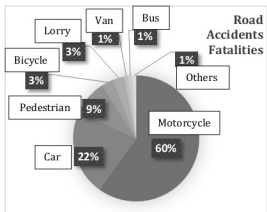

Mahadzir, fondly known as "Datuk Dale", actually represented the true multicultural Malaysia. His flair for foreign languages never made him less Malaysian or forget the national language.

Hi, Lili! What's up?

Lili
I'm a bag of nerves today. I have to attend and interview for a scholarship programme. I'm not sure if I am to it tomorrow.

Emy
Don't worry - I can share a few tips here. Practise and repeat answering questions about yourself and why you want to further your studies - maybe in the field you are applying for! Apart from that, be there ahead of time. Then, try to stay calm.

Lili
Wow! I didn't think of that. Thank you Emy for your tips.

Emy
No problem. What are friends for?

HEALTH JOURNAL

When it is time for meals, we tend to focus on what we should eat, but we overlook our eating habits. Ellyn Satter, a social worker and registered dietician, suggests that normal eating includes going to a meal hungry and eating until we are satisfied, being able to choose the food we like and getting enough of it. We should also give some thought to our food selection so we get some nutrition, eat three meals a day and leave some cookies on the plate because we know we can have some again tomorrow.

5 According to the health journal, we can have a healthy eating habit if we

- eat when we are full.
- eat when we are hungry.
- select food we like without thinking.

You need calcium to build strong bones when you are young and to keep bones strong as you get older. Everyone needs calcium, but it is especially important for woman and girls. Many people, including most women, do not get enough calcium. For women, if you are between the ages of 19 and 50, get 1,000 mg of calcium. If you are 51 and older, take 1,200 mg of calcium every day. Calcium can help prevent osteoporosis. 1 in 4 women in 20 men over the age of 65 in the United States have osteoporosis. Calcium helps to keep your bones strong.

6 Based on the information, we know that

- A. if you are only 17, you do need calcium.
- B. if you are 20, you need 1000 mg of calcium.
- C. only those above 65 years of age have osteoporosis.

7 DeeJay

Dr. Jay, please continue enlightening us with the health tips.

Dr. Jay

Thank you. Just to add on about the weight loss. If you tend to eat at night, then you are likely to pile on the weight. Johnny Lewis, a researcher, suggests that having dinner in the evenings or an hour earlier than usual helps to shed the unwanted kilos.

I suppose I have to cut down on those late snacks then.

Looks like it. Let me talk about sleep. Marco Roswell, a sleep expert, says that we need at least seven hours of quality sleep at night. Research shows that if we don't get enough sleep, we are more prone to heart disease, impaired immune function, lower glucose tolerance and obesity.

Oh dear! The effects are serious!

Yes, indeed and once you are sleep deprived, your performance and memory quickly suffer. So listeners, please value your sleep if you want to stay healthy and function well.

Which of the following statements about the conversation is true?

- A. Lack of sleep does not affect your memory.
- B. Sleep problems can be caused by impaired immune function.
- C. Having an early dinner had been proven to assist in weight loss.

Friends are important to us. We do not need too many friends but a few great friends 1 a huge difference in our lives. I have such a good friend in my life. 2 name is Lily, and we go to the same school. Although we are the same age, we do not learn in the same class. Her class is one floor below mine because we have different interests in studies. I love science and she loves history.

Lily has a good sense of humour. She always makes me smile when I am down. She sometimes makes jokes that I can laugh so hard my stomach hurts. She is the most hardworking person I know, and she is never selfish in 3 what she knows. Her knowledge in world history is amazing. She 4 to become a history journalist one day.

Lily and I live in the same neighbourhood. Every morning, we take the school bus together to go to school. Sometimes, my mother would make two 5 meals to give one to Lily. We would eat together during the school break. I can 6 a lot. So, when Lily cannot finish her meal, I would be the first to take her food. 7 always jokes that I might become a teddy bear if I keep eating so much.

Another reason Lily and I become so close is because we share the same love for netball. We both 8 for the school netball team and we train three times a week after school. Lily is recently chosen as the team captain. Coach likes that she is a fair person. One time I was late for 9, she made me run five rounds around the court as punishment even though we are close friends. Besides, she trains hard and always 10 with us during games.

I am grateful because I have a good friend. Lily has been like a sister to me. I cannot imagine my life without her.

Once many students finish high school or college, they __1__ the uncanny desire to travel as far away from home as possible. Visiting new places and seeing exotic locales around the world __2__ can be a great learning experience, but there is one big problem that these young travellers face — a lack of money. Most countries nowadays are __3__ young globetrotters by offering a six- to twelve-month working holiday for anyone between the ages of 18 and 30. __4__, they will be able to experience new cultures while making enough money to survive.

In Australia, the working holiday program __5__ been a phenomenal success. In its first year of existence, 1975, 2,000 working visas were __6__. By 2006, this number had increased to 113,000, which is estimated to have added US$1.3 billion to Australia's economy in that year. Many of the positions __7__ are in the hospitality industry or harvest work, but some travellers are getting jobs in finance, health care, and education.

For Australians, Britons, and New Zealanders, a popular place to spend a working holiday is Canada, __8__ there are numerous ski and snowboard resorts. Dear Uncle Sam,

It was nice meeting you again after all these years. In fact, you have hardly changed except 1 your greying hair. I know I have changed.

It must 2 as a great shock to you to hear that I have chosen to become a teacher instead of a lawyer. Well, I was younger then and I thought that being a lawyer was everything, but I was wrong. I hated the 3 life although it was financially very rewarding. So, I decided to quit and start all 4 again.

Actually, I went into teaching 5 by chance. There was a teacher on maternity leave in my sister's school and I agreed to help out. The rest is 5. Now, I find that teaching 6 very rewarding. It has its ups and downs but at the end of the day, when you know you have helped someone make something 7 his life, that is all that matters. Teaching will not make 8 a millionaire, but I feel that my life is far richer than anyone else. Every time I am able to make a child see the light, I am rewarded. Besides, I can also 9 my knowledge of the outside world to them and use my acting and debating skills to the fullest. I also have time to read and travel during the holidays.

I hope you are not too disappointed with me. I know that 10 have always wanted me to become a lawyer but I am very happy with my vocation and I wouldn't change it for anything else.

Your niece,

Rachel

I was born into a lovely family. My first earthly sensation was of groping blindly, hungrily ___1___ my mother's furry underbody, along with five other hungry and helpless puppies.

I weighed a little more than a pound. I was blind ___2___ I could not walk. All I could do was to squirm, eat and sleep. I looked like a plump rat of no special colour. A day later, one of my siblings ___3___ of colic. I was aware that his cries ___4___ waned, and he died.

Twelve days later, I ___5___ to look less like a plum rodent. I finally opened my eyes for the first time and saw my surroundings. I was housed in a room with several cardboard boxes and a soft old blanket was underneath my mother. My days and nights ___6___ taken up with eating and sleeping.

Then, I finally met my master. He ___7___ in occasionally to look at us but he never ventured nearby. One day, my mother had gone out for a run. My master walked into the room with a container. He lifted me up and put me on the floor in front of the milk. Then, he ___8___ my nose into the container. It was a sticky and disagreeable sensation. I tried to wriggle free. I washed my milky nose with my tongue and to my ___9___, the milk was tasty. By the next day, I was able to crouch in front of the container and lapped gawkily at its contents. Much of the milk was spilt everywhere but more and more of it went down my throat ___10___ I mastered the art of drinking milk.

Choose the best answer from the options A, B, C and D

Just as my friends and I finished lunch at a hotel, a little distance from my office, it started to pour heavily. When it became lighter, I decided to __1__ the drizzle to get to my car, which was parked at my office three streets away. My friends argued that I should not go since I was seven months pregnant then. I assured __2__ that I would be very careful. One of them wanted to come with me but I insisted that she stayed with another friend who needed help __3__ her baby. I walked out of the __4__ and started making my way to the car.

Then at the traffic junction, a van stopped, and the passenger alighted with an umbrella. Before I knew what was happening, he walked right beside me and told me he would __5__ me to my destination. I was embarrassed and declined, but he was very persistent. During our walk, he kept telling me to walk slowly as the ground was wet. When we got to the car park, I thanked him, and we parted ways. I did not get the __6__ name and may not even recognize him now. Did he purposely stop for me? I will never __7__.

So how did I pay for this kindness? I was at home that day __8__ I noticed two Indian construction workers walking in the heavy rain. They were probably on their way to the construction site near my housing estate, which was a long walk in. I went out and passed them an umbrella. They __9__ aback by my gesture and I told them they should take the umbrella and keep it. They were very grateful and like me, probably wondered __10__ a stranger was offering such kindness.

PART 3

SET 1

Directions: Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow. Refer to the text to check your answers when appropriate.

TV

Televisions show sounds and pictures. They get data from cables, discs, or over-the-air signals. They turn this data into sounds and images. People watch news and shows on them. You probably call them TVs.

John Baird made the first TV in 1925. It had one colour. It could only show 30 lines. This was just enough room for a face. It didn't work well, but it was a start.

The first TV station was set up in 1928. It was in New York. Few people had TVs. The broadcasts were not meant to be watched. They showed a Felix the Cat doll for two hours a day. The doll spun around on a record player. They were experimenting. It took many years to get it right.

By the end of the 1930s, TVs were working well. America got its first taste at the 1939 World's Fair. This was one of the biggest events ever. There were 200 small, black and white TVs set up around the fair. The U.S. President gave a speech over the TVs. The TVs were only five inches big but the people loved it.

They wanted TVs. But World War II was going on during this time. Factories were busy making guns and bombs. When the war was over, TV spread across the country.

By 1948 there were 4 big TV networks in America. They aired their shows from 8 to 11 each night. Local shows were aired at other times. Most of the time, nothing was shown at all. TV was not "always on" like it is now.

Colour TVs came out in 1953. They cost too much money for most. Also, shows were aired in black and white. By 1965, colour TVs were cheaper. TV stations started airing shows in colour. People had to switch if they wanted to see the shows.

Now most TVs are high-def. This means that they have many lines on them. This makes the image clear. TVs have come a long way since Baird's 30-line set. High-def TVs have 1080 lines. There are state of the art sets called 4K TVs. These TVs have 3,840 lines. Some people watch TV in 3D. I wonder what they will come up with next. Smell-o-vision anyone?

1. When did colour TVs come out?
  - A. 1925
  - B. 1953
  - C. 1939
  - D. 1965
2. Which was not true about the first TV?
  - A. It could only show one colour.
  - B. It only had 30 lines.
  - C. It did not have sound.
  - D. It did not work well.
3. When did networks start showing programs in colour?
  - A. 1948
  - B. 1953
  - C. 1965
  - D. 1939
4. Why did the first TV station only show Felix the Cat for two hours a day?
  - A. They were running tests.
  - B. Felix the Cat was really popular.
  - C. Felix the Cat had been a big radio star.
  - D. Felix the Cat was the only show that they had.
5. Which of these events slowed the spread of TVs?
  - A. The World's Fair of 1939
  - B. The Civil War
  - C. The election of the U.S. President.
  - D. World War II
6. What is the author's main purpose in writing this?
  - A. He is trying to explain how a TV works.
  - B. He is telling readers how TVs became popular.
  - C. He is describing the history of the TV.
  - D. He is trying to get people to watch more TV.
7. Why did many families switch to colour TVs in 1965?
  - A. Colour TVs cost a lot of money.
  - B. Many shows were only shown in colour.
  - C. Colour TVs came out in 1965.
  - D. World War II ended and troops returned home.
8. Why was 1939 an important year for TV?
  - A. Many Americans were introduced to TV.
  - B. The first colour TV was released.
  - C. The first TV station began broadcasting.
  - D. John Baird created the first TV.

SET 2

Directions: Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow. Refer to the text to check your answers when appropriate.

Chess

Chess is called the game of kings. It has been around for a long time. People have been playing it for over 500 years. Chess is based on an even older game from India. The chess we play today is from Europe.

Chess is a two-player game. One player uses the white pieces. The other uses the black pieces. Each piece moves in a special way. One piece is called the king. Each player has one. The players take turns moving their pieces. If a player lands on a piece, he or she takes it. The game ends when a player loses his or her king. There are a few more rules, but those are the basics.

Some people think that chess is more than a game. They think that it makes the mind stronger. Good chess players use their brains. They take their time. They think about what will happen next. These skills are useful in life and in chess. Chess is kind of like a work out for the mind.

You don't always have lots of time to think when playing chess. There is a type of chess with short time limits. It's called blitz chess. In blitz chess, each player gets ten minutes to use for the whole game. Your clock runs during your turn. You hit the time clock after your move. This stops your clock. It also starts the other player's clock. If you run out of time, you lose. Games of blitz chess are fast-paced.

Chess is not just for people. Computers have been playing chess since the 1970s. At first, they did not play well. They made mistakes. As time went on, they grew stronger. In 1997, a computer beat the best player in the world for the first time. It was a computer called Deep Blue. Deep Blue was big. It took up a whole room. By 2006 a cell phone could beat the best players in the world. Chess sure has come a long way. Don't you think so?

1. What is the author's purpose in writing the second paragraph?
  - A. To explain the rules of chess
  - B. To compare different types of games
  - C. To talk about game pieces
  - D. To persuade people to play chess
2. Which is not a reason that chess is a good workout for the mind according to the text?
  - A. Good chess players think about what will happen next.
  - B. Good chess players take a lot of risks.
  - C. Good chess players take their time.
  - D. Good chess players use their brains.
3. How long have people been playing chess?
  - A. Over 100 years
  - B. Over 500 years
  - C. Over 1000 years
  - D. Over 5000 years
4. Where did the game that chess is based on come from?
  - A. Europe
  - B. America
  - C. India
  - D. All of these
5. Which best describes the main idea in the fourth paragraph?
  - A. This paragraph argues that players should think less.
  - B. This paragraph explains how blitz chess is played.
  - C. This paragraph explains time clocks work.
  - D. This paragraph describes many different ways to play chess.
6. How does a game of chess end according to the text?
  - A. One player takes all of the other player's pieces.
  - B. One player makes it to the end of the board.
  - C. One player becomes king.
  - D. One player loses his or her king.
7. Which happened first?
  - A. Computers did not play chess well.
  - B. Deep Blue won an important game.
  - C. Cell phones got good at playing chess.
  - D. Deep Blue took up a whole room.
8. How is blitz chess different from regular chess?
  - A. Each player has two kings.
  - B. Players are blindfolded.
  - C. Players only have ten minutes to play.
  - D. Players start from a random position.

SET 3

Directions: Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow. Refer to the text to check your answers when appropriate.

Worst Game Ever?

E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial is a video game that came out for the Atari 2600 game system in 1982. It was based on a very popular film of the same name. It cost over 125 million dollars to make. Star programmer Howard Scott Warshaw created it with consultation from Steven Spielberg. And it is widely considered to be one of the worst video games ever created. The massive failure of E.T. and its effects on Atari is an often-mentioned reason for the video game industry crash of 1983.

It was July 27th, 1982. Howard Scott Warshaw was hot off the success of his most recent game, Raiders of the Lost Ark. He received a call from Atari C.E.O. Ray Kassar. Atari had bought the rights to make a video game version of Spielberg's movie, E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial, which had just been released in June. Kassar told Warshaw that Spielberg had specifically asked for Warshaw to make the game. Warshaw was honoured, but there was one huge problem. Atari needed the game finished by September 1st in order to start selling it during the Christmas season.

It had taken Warshaw six months to create Raiders of the Lost Ark. The game he made prior to that took him seven months. He was expected to create E.T. in around five weeks. Warshaw just did not have enough time to program the game properly, but he accepted the challenge anyway and production began. Spielberg wanted Warshaw to create a simple maze game, similar to Pac-Man, but Warshaw had a bigger vision. He wanted players to explore different environments in a 3D world. Warshaw followed his vision.

Atari anticipated that the game would be a huge success. Usually, companies like Atari have people test games before releasing them. If there is something that testers really dislike, programmers can fix it before the public gets a chance to play. Atari decided to skip testing due to time limitations.

They wanted the game released during the holiday season. It was: E.T. was released in December of 1982.

The game sold very well at first. It was a hot holiday item. Unfortunately, Atari overestimated how many they would sell. They made 5 million copies and they only sold 1.5 million. Most people who played the game hated it. The graphics were bad. Game play was awkward. Players got stuck in holes that they couldn't escape. A short time limit made the game difficult to explore and frustrating to play. Some people who stuck with the game grew to like it, but it wasn't the mainstream success that Atari had hoped it would be.

Too many copies of the game sat on store shelves. One employee remembers the game being discounted five times, from $49.95 to less than a dollar. Many people returned the game. Atari was left with millions of unsold copies. In September of 1983, a newspaper in New Mexico reported that between 10 and 20 semitrailer truckloads of Atari products were crushed and buried at a landfill in Alamogordo. Perhaps a million or more copies of E.T. were buried in the desert. When word got out, the drop site had to be covered with cement to prevent scavenging.

Atari lost over $100 million on E.T. The game was so bad that it was said to have affected Atari's reputation. The video game industry soon fell into a deep depression. In 1983 the industry made $3.2 billion. By 1985 profit fell to just over $100 million. This was almost a 97% drop. Many critics believe that Atari's blunder on E.T. was one of the causes leading to this depression. E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial will long be remembered as one of the worst video games ever made, if not one of the causes of the decline of the entire video game industry.

1. Which of the following is not a reason for the failure of E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial?
  - A. The programmer was not given enough time to finish the game properly.
  - B. Atari did not test the game before its release.
  - C. Atari made too many copies of E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial.
  - D. The game was released on a new system that only a small number of people owned.
2. Which of the following were effects of the failure of E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial?
  - A. Perhaps a million or more copies of the game were buried in the desert.
  - B. Atari lost over $100 million.
  - C. The video game industry sunk into a deep depression.
  - D. All of the above
3. Which of the following was not listed as a reason why E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial was considered one of the worst games ever?
  - A. The soundtrack was annoying.
  - B. The graphics were bad.
  - C. A short time limit made the game frustrating.
  - D. Players would get stuck in holes.
4. Which of the following events happened first?
  - A. E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial video game was released to the public.
  - B. The entire video game industry sank into a deep decline.
  - C. Steven Spielberg suggested that the E.T. video game should be like Pac-Man.
  - D. Atari buried millions of cartridges and game consoles in the New Mexico desert.
5. Who programmed E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial?
  - A. Steven Spielberg
  - B. Ray Kassar
  - C. Howard Scott Warshaw
  - D. Elliot Thomas
6. Why did Atari decide to skip testing E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial?
  - A. Testing was too expensive.
  - B. Spielberg would not allow testing.
  - C. They were in a hurry to release the game for the holiday season.
  - D. Testing video games was not common until after E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial was released.
7. When was the game E.T. the Extra-Terrestrial released?
  - A. June 1982
  - B. September 1982
  - C. December 1982
  - D. September 1983
8. According to the text, which group of people would like playing E.T.?
  - A. People who really enjoyed watching the movie
  - B. People who liked playing fast, fun games
  - C. People who stuck with the game despite its flaws
  - D. People who enjoyed playing Raiders of the Lost Ark

Food for a community

A message from Life co-author, Helen Stephenson

*One of the best things about travelling is trying different food. But just as interesting as the food itself is the experience of sharing the meal with other people. I've been very lucky to have shared some fantastic home-made food with friends and acquaintances in a number of countries. One of my fondest memories is of family beach picnics on 1st January, somewhere quite near to the equator – a memorable start to each new year. Every year for many years the people of Milpa Alta, Mexico, have prepared a feast in the week before Christmas. Sixty thousand tamales and 15,000 litres of hot chocolate are made in less than a week, not too much and not too little for the thousands of people who show up for the feast. The feast is called La Rejunta and is made for pilgrims preparing for the long walk to the holy cave of El Señor de Chalma on January 3rd. The people responsible for organising La Rejunta are called the mayordomos. It's an honour to be chosen and so many people want to do it that the waiting list is full until 2046.*

The stages in the organisation of La Rejunta are the same every year. Tradition is important to the Milpa Alta people. Corn has been grown here for hundreds of years and the name of the region means 'high cornfield'. Local farmers grow most of the corn, meat, and vegetables needed as ingredients for the meal. And a year before the event, the men go to the forest and collect wood that they pile up high near the home of the mayordomos so that it will be properly dried before it's used for open-air cooking. This year's mayordomos are Virginia Meza Torres and her husband Fermín Lara Jiménez. 'There is an infinity of things to do,' Virginia Meza Torres says firmly, as if to indicate there is no time to talk. Virginia is heading to the local offices to get the necessary permits and Fermín sets off into the countryside in search of more ingredients. They leave their daughter Montserrat Lara Meza in charge. She is a 24-year-old graduate student who's come home to help her parents for the week. Volunteers are starting to arrive and Montserrat wanders down the hill to a shed to see how the toasting of the corn is going. Everything is made from the basics – no instant mixes or other culinary shortcuts are allowed.

Such traditional approaches are part of everyday life here. Eating together is perhaps the most important example. 'In my experience, there is a glue, a bonding, that comes from the time together at the table,' says Josefina García Jiménez. She often cooks for her nieces and nephews and says, 'It feels like I am passing down a tradition, and when it comes to their turn to be adults, they will remember what I have done. Here we have time to cook, time to think just what ingredients are needed, time to show our kids through cooking that we love them.'

When the day of La Rejunta arrives, the volunteers have been up all night, though no one admits to feeling tired. Fermín has made sure there are enough tamales for everyone, and the head cook has been stirring the atole (chocolate drink) all night. After a 14-year wait, and a full year of preparation, it's almost time for Fermín and Virginia to hand over responsibility to the next mayordomos. But first, there are thousands of cups of atole to serve.

Dear Putri,

How are you and everyone at home doing? I hope everyone is in the pink. I heard that you have been chosen to join the National Service Programme. Let me assure you that this programme will be beneficial for you. A friend of mine who attended it said he was glad he went for it.

First of all, 1 ☐ Before joining the programme, my friend hardly did any housework such as making his own bed or washing his own clothes. However, now he does not rely on his mother or maid because he has learnt to do it himself. I know at present your mother or maid does everything for you. 2 ☐

Another benefit of the programme is that you will be able to meet people of different ethnics and religions from all over our country. 3 ☐

Besides, 4 ☐ They carry out activities like painting town halls, cleaning up parks and planting trees by a riverbank. They learn leadership skills and teamwork.

This programme also helps you to keep fit and healthy. 5 ☐

6 ☐ Joining this programme means you will get the opportunity to travel to another state to attend the programme. During the programme you will go on field trips and be able to see different parts of Malaysia, not forgetting a singing competition, telematch games and even a swim in a waterfall.

I think you should attend this programme with a positive attitude. I have to sign off now. Look forward to hearing from you soon.

Yours sincerely,
Mei Hui

25 June 2021

Dear Wie Ling,

How are you? My family and I are in good health. You guess what? Something happened yesterday and I can't wait to tell you about it.

Yesterday, as I was shopping along the bustling Jalan Maharani, I witnessed a heart-warming incident.

1 ☐ By noon, I myself had bought several bags of things within an hour. When I was in a queue at a counter to pay for my new shoes, I saw a rather frail old lady standing across the street all by herself. She tried to cross the street a few times but failed due to the heavy traffic.

Suddenly, the poor lady tripped and fell in her attempt to go across. The things in her bag scattered on the road. 3 ☐ I felt so sorry for her. As I was going over to give her a helping hand after paying for my purchase, I saw a young man going forward to her aid. He helped her up and collected her things on the ground. Then he gently helped her cross the road by practically stopping the traffic.

4 ☐ She thanked him gratefully as he got her a taxi. The young man then disappeared into the crowd. 5 I do not know who the young man was or his name but what he ☐ was certainly commendable. 6 ☐

What have you been doing since I last heard from you? Do tell me your news. I must go now. Take care.

Best wishes,
Aidah

| A His kindness seemed to reassure the lady who had been quite flustered.                          | E I was deeply touched by what I saw.  |
| B The vehicles were slow moving but none of them was willing to give way to her.                  | F It was such an unlucky day for her.  |
| C Sometimes it does not take much to make someone's day.  | G Unfortunately, a man snatched her handbag and ran away.  |
| D Passers-by, however, continued on with their activities, pretending as if nothing had happened. | H The area was crowded as people were doing their last-minute shopping in preparations for the forthcoming festive season. |

A CAMPING TRIP

We had been planning to go on a camping trip for a long time. At last, during the recent holiday, the six of us managed to do it.

We gathered at Wei Xian's house and started off early on our trip to the campsite. It was beside a river in the jungle. 1 ☐ Entertained by Johan's jokes and Akmal's songs, we laughed throughout our walk.

At noon, we stopped for lunch at a small village. By the time we arrived at the river, it was quite late in the evening. Having liven with us, we were able to quickly set up our tents. 2 ☐ Then, we sat around the fire that we had built to have our dinner. After a delicious meal of rice and rendang, we chatted for a while before going to bed. We all felt tired and decided to go to sleep early.

The next morning, we woke up to the chirping of birds and insects. 3 ☐ Wei Xian, who fancies himself a great naturalist, was able to identify the footprints of a few animals. Azim, not to be outdone, could identify many wild plants by name. I was quite impressed by their knowledge and felt that I had learned a lot from them.

We later stopped at a waterfall to have a picnic and a rest. 4 ☐ We also bathed at the waterfall. It was a refreshing experience. Before nightfall, we decided to return to our camp.

The third day was spent climbing some nearby hills. We were excited to discover a small cave in one of the hills. We explored the cave and found bats in it. 5 ☐ His shrieks were scarier than the sounds of the animals. There were some unusual insects in the cave. 6 ☐ We practically had to drag him out of the cave. That next day, we rose early to return home. We all agreed that it had been a memorable and enjoyable trip.

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| A We packed some food and started on our jungle trekking. | E Every time we heard the fluttering of wings Johan screamed. |
| B Wei Xian would have loved to spend hours studying them. | F The scenery was spectacular.                                |
| C Although it was a long way, we found it fun             | G The food finished quickly as we were hungry!                |
| D We were shocked and dashed out of it.                   | H He was quite an expert at this.                             |

The Threat to The Survival of Animals

Man has always been a threat to the survival of animals. In the last two hundred years, this process has accelerated. Population growth, industrial civilization and hunting are the main enemies of animals. Animals have been driven from their natural habitats for the sake of development.

Among the most tragically endangered species is the mountain gorilla. It is now one of the rarest animals in the world. Mountain gorillas live only in the dense tropical rainforest of the Virunga Volcanic region of central Africa. Although they live far away in the forest, they are not spared of the threat from human. 1 ☐

Birds have been flying the skies for centuries. Today a number of species of birds are slowly becoming extinct. Many of them have already extinct and many more are on the endangered list. Their reduction in number has been mainly due to the loss of habitat. Many wetlands, the home of several species of birds, are being converted to developed land for housing and industries. 2 ☐ Oil spills and the dumping of mineral waste are constantly contaminating the sea. Aquatic birds, while looking for food in these waters, find their feathers coated with grease and filth. This does not only make it difficult for them to fly but also prevents them from staying afloat in the water.

Fifty years ago, there were hundreds of thousands of elephants in Africa. 3 ☐ In the last ten years, they have taken the lives of approximately eighty thousand elephants in the vast continent. They are hunted for their tusks, which are priceless. For centuries, craftsmen have used ivory to make statues, jewellery, piano keys and other articles. 4 ☐

Every year, about fifty thousand baby seals are slaughtered in the annual seal cull. 5 ☐ They have been killed brutally for the sake of their pelts which are made into coats, handbags and hats. Many people, concerned about the conservation of seals, have joined hands to protest these merciless killings. They are aware of the plight of these animals and are coming together to save the seals. 6 ☐ Prohibiting the hunting of rare animals alone is no longer sufficient to ensure their survival. We should allow them adequate natural habitats to live in. The decision to let them survive lies with us.

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| A Since then, the number of poachers has increased.  | E These people must change their attitudes towards animals  |
| B These magnificent animals may one day become extinct if this unnecessary killing is not stopped. | F These conscientious people have stopped using goods made of their skin or the fur of other animals. |
| C These animals are struggling to survive in the hand of man.                                      | G Agricultural development and forestry have reduced their number greatly                             |
| D Pollution too has taken its toll on their population   | H These cute, shy animals are mostly clubbed to death or sometimes shot.                              |

SET 5

A Man Running for His Life

Nahim peered through the hole in the wall. It had taken him a while but he had finally managed to free himself of the ropes that bound his hands and feet. The man who had been left behind to guard the hut was dozing under a tree. Nahim knew that the other two had gone to the nearby town to get some food and to send the ransom note. He had heard them talking about it earlier.

He crept to the door and slowly pushed it open. The guard was still asleep, probably tired out from the activities of the night before. 1 ☐ The rustling of the bushes as he bolted down the jungle path woke the guard but he did not look back. He ran as he had never run before, dodging and ducking to avoid the overhanging branches and creepers. 2 ☐

He did not know where he was going. He did not know if the jungle path led anywhere. All he wanted to do was to get away from the kidnappers.

He heard shouts behind him. From the cracking of twigs and swishing sounds of footsteps thundering over the decaying undergrowth, he guessed that the guard was chasing after him. 3 ☐ Being smaller in size, he could dash through the bushes and trees faster than the bulky guard.

In the distance, he saw the trees thinning. He must be nearing the edge of the jungle. With renewed hope, he forced himself to move faster. 4 ☐ A sharp pain tore at his ankle. He put his foot down on the ground and tried to rest his weight on it. The pain was terribly intense. He bit his lower lip to stop himself from crying out loud.

He did not see anybody around but the shouts behind him were getting closer. He also heard the trashing and slapping sounds nearby. 5 ☐

He had to act fast or he would be caught. Falling on all fours, he left the path, crept slowly along the undergrowth and hid himself as best as he could in a thick bush. 6 ☐

A His pursuer was gaining on him

E Suddenly, he stumbled and fell.

B He kept running forward as fast as he could.

He prayed that the guard would not spot him

F

C He shouted for help.

G He was not aware of the numerous scratches and cuts that he received.

D The next instant, he sprang out of the hut and was running for his life.

H He was so tired that he fell asleep almost immediately.

Good Health Begins at Home

Good health is a state of the well-being of all aspects of our life, be it physical, emotional or mental. It is often determined by our economic, social and physical conditions. One's family, community and culture are basic elements that have an enduring influence on every area of one's life. 1 ☐ child's view of living healthily can be attributed to house rules, family attitudes, emotional support and economic background.

The family is responsible for everything to do with health. Tiny tots learn about healthy social interaction from older family members. 2 ☐ Young adults learn the value of proper dietary habits and regular exercise when they see the fitness state of the senior members of the family.

Eating is often referred to as one of man's greatest passions. 3 ☐ Parents have the greatest influence on their children's eating patterns. Parents should make their children aware that fruits, vegetables, grains and milk belong to the good food group and should be consumed regularly. Sweet food such as chocolate, ice cream and candies should only be identified as occasional treats. 4 ☐ If parents constantly relent to their children's demands, junk food may become part of their regular diet.

It is a tried and tested fact that good habits, when learned and practised early in life, have a lasting effect. One such habit that a child needs to adopt is regular exercise. About 50% of today's youngsters are not getting enough physical activity. 5 ☐ Children should be discouraged from turning into couch potatoes early in life. Couples should start a fitness plan for the family as soon as they are married.

The state of a child's emotional and mental health, although not obvious to outsiders, is easily visible to his family members. The complexity of today's society and its demands are making it difficult for parents to spend quality time with their children. However, parents must give it priority as their children need to feel loved and cared for. A child who enjoys the love and security of a stable family life can lead a stress-free life. 6 ☐

Indisputably, parents are in a pivotal position to shape the health conditions of their offspring.

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| A The number of obese people is increasing daily.                                  | E Parents should always be aware of the influence they have on their children.     |
| B Parents have to be firm in ensuring these habits are practised at all time.      | F To say that health begins at home is no exaggeration.                            |
| C They should always be there to support their children.                           | G He would develop a positive outlook which in turn helps him lead a healthy life. |
| D Teenagers' eating preferences and habits are determined mainly by their parents. | H In fact, it plays a vital role in determining our state of physical health.      |

SET 1

Hi Theo,

Do tell me too what you learnt by visiting the amusement park in Kajang. I do want to glean some substantial information so that I would be able to write a post in Facebook about my upcoming excursion without a hassle.

Janice

Vocabulary
funfair – amusement park	glean – gain
recall – remember	excursion – short trip / jaunt
anticipating – look forward to	hassle – problem

[illegible]

Sample answer

Hi Janice ,

It must be vivifying to have fun in the perimeter of an amusement park during the weekend. On my visit to the celebrated UK Fun Park in Kajang years ago, I saw a number of things including merry-go-rounds, carrousels, as well as bumper cars. All those funfair machines precipitated a sense of exhilaration in my heart as I tried the extreme rides and cavorted around the fairground gaping at the LED lightings that came in variegated colours.

My visit to the funfair taught me to conquer my fear of heights. Hence, I am not acrophobic any longer. On top of that , the visit also showed me the importance of following instructions to the latter. Indeed, Janice , you must never act on an impulse when you are in an amusement park.

Dearest, I do hope you enjoy yourself tremendously at the funfair. Please remember to get some snapshots too.

Hi Eliza,

I'm doing fine. I hope you've been well too. You seem very excited about your sister's birthday. I think two weeks is enough time for you to prepare for the celebration, so don't worry.

To begin with, you could enlist the help of your family members to surprise your sister. Maybe you could cook her favourite food or bake her a cake and then surprise her at midnight. If your sister doesn't like surprises, you could simply buy her something she likes and congratulate her.

I hope that helps.

Rania.

SAMPLE ANSWER

Money is an essential element in our lives. Indeed, people who lived in the early civilisations used variegated precious items as early forms of money. Today, we use money to buy everything that we need to live comfortably. In addition, we also buy non-essentials that bring us a sense of happiness.

I normally use my money in a thrifty way. In short, as I am still studying, I would like to use whatever money that I have to buy books such as reference books, workbooks, novels and dictionaries. This is because, books like Geography reference books can help me widen my knowledge about the world in general. For example, I would be able to gain some useful knowledge about the Eskimos who live in the very cold regions of Greenland. Furthermore, novels can ascertain that I gain a whole collection of new words which improve my writing skills. In addition, it makes me to recognise a few renowned writers who inspire me to be just like them one day.

As there are very few thriving bookstores in my hometown, I buy these books from MPH Bookstore in Malacca. Nonetheless, at times, I just buy them from a quaint little bookshop known popularly as "Ban Heng" amongst Muarians. All in all, quoting from Benjamin Franklin, "reading makes a man full".

SAMPLE ANSWER

It is a fact that young offenders should be sent to a place that would help them stay away from wrongdoings of any kind. In truth, in some countries, youngsters with criminal records are packed off to rehabilitation centres while in others, the only option is a tough boot camp. I believe that it is advisable to send young people who have committed a crime or been implicated actively in misdeeds to an army camp .

Undoubtedly, punishment is a necessary evil in our society as we hurtle towards development. In brief, all forms of criminal activities are punishable by law whether they involve violence or otherwise. By way of illustration, if a person commits a crime, he has to face the consequences. Even in the olden days, anyone who went against the dictates of a country's law was punished. Sometimes, criminals were skinned alive, impaled or thrown into a colosseum to be eaten alive by animals.

Youngsters who have committed crimes of passion or a spate of minor misdeeds ought to be sent to army camps so as to relearn the importance of obeying the law at all times. These youngsters are also taught to have self-esteem and confidence in themselves. Subsequently, this would help them become happier people who would hate to reoffend.

In addition, young offenders also learn life skills as well as living skills when they are in boot camps. For instance, the life skills that they master are decision making, communicating effectively and thinking critically while the living skills are cooking, gardening and carpentry. When they are armed with these skills, life will seem much better for them.

In a nutshell, young offenders worldwide can go through rehabilitation at army camps where away from the protective arms of their parents, they are forced to discard their bad habits and grow into respectable people. Thus, going to an army camp is actually beneficial.

QUESTION: Your teacher asked you whether you prefer to read print books or e-books. State your choice and give 3 reasons for your answer. Name a print / digital book that you like and say why you like it.

[illegible]

SAMPLE ANSWER

Books, in truth, are truly awe-inspiring whether they are print books or e-books. Nonetheless, people have different preferences with regards to these books.

Indubitably, I prefer print books to e-books although some people maintain that physical books are heavy and cumbersome. This is because print books bring a kind of joy to my heart as I touch them and add them to my collection. I can even catalogue them so as to keep track of the print books that I have already read so far.

Another reason why I prefer print books to digital books is because print books come in numerous genres and do not focus on any particular genre. As an avid reader, I love to read all kinds of books under the sun. By way of illustration, I read novels, adventure stories, literary works and the like. Besides, I like reading print books as they will not cause my eyes to grow dry due to the rays released by electrical gadgets. In brief, by reading print books, we will not be risking our health.

There are actually a number of print books that I have read but the one that I like best is "Pride and Prejudice" by Jane Austen. Indeed, this book has captivated my heart as it portrays a love story between 2 people who come from different social classes. Darcy, the protagonist loves Elizabeth, the heroine yet he tries to suppress his love for her. Of course, the story has a happy ending. I do hope to read more print books in the near future.

SAMPLE ANSWER

There are variegated types of food in Malaysia and most of the kinds of food prevalent in this multiracial country are local fare. Nonetheless, some exclusive restaurants do serve western delicacies and dishes.

I love all varieties of edibles but my favourite food is of course "Nasi Lemak" which is actually coconut flavoured rice that is eaten with chicken condiment, anchovy condiment or shrimp condiment. In truth, Malaysians like to start their day by stopping at an open-air stall and digging into a plate of Nasi Lemak. I like Malaysian food because it is spicy and savoury. Besides, Malaysian food can be found everywhere that is from the roadside stalls to well-known cafes. Another reason why I like local food is because it is affordable. By way of illustration, a plate of "nasi lemak" with chicken condiment merely costs around RM 6.00.

I do not like western food like chicken chop because the price is exorbitant as it is rarely sold by hawkers. However, I do eat western food once in a blue moon.

[illegible]

SAMPLE ANSWER: A bird's - eye view of Middleton

Middleton Estate was founded in the 1930s when rubber was first introduced to Malaysian planters as an alternative cash crop to replace cassava. It was managed by the Guthrie company for many a decade.

Middleton Estate is a bijou estate in the state of Negeri Sembilan where the mornings are scented with the redolence of wild orchids that thrive in exotic orchid houses. These de rigueur structures that delineate a post-independence architecture is mostly scattered atop the viridian hillocks near the ancient dispensary, a century-old health facility that caters to the needs of the small population that lives in virtual seclusion.

This gargantuan plantation accommodates locals who come from all walks of life. Some folks are of Indian descent from Tamil Nadu while others are indigenous groups viz the Jakuns. All these people either stay in zero-lot-line homes near the oil palm holdings or in dilapidated attap huts near the jungle's edge. Together, they form the manual labour force as some work as day labourers while others eke a living by doing a miscellany of household chores in the opulent homes of the estate manager and staff .

Indubitably, Middleton Estate is awe-inspiring due to the management's piquant tradition of screening Tamil movies in open-air theatres during weekends when the labourers unwind and mingle with one another. Then, there is a tiny Hindu temple on a knoll a little away from the main road where the people can hear bells being rung. Indubitably, it is considered a sacred place by devotees from around Negeri Sembilan because it is where miracles occur from time to time. Furthermore, the picturesque scenery of cows grazing in the meads is an unforgettable sight.

Without a doubt, this entrancing place can help lift spirits whenever someone is in the doldrums. In truth, Middleton Estate will hold many riveting memories for visitors who come here to relax.

Sample of a movie review

Titanic which was released in 1997 is actually an American epic or romance that was written, directed, co-produced and co-edited by James Cameron. The cast includes Leonardo DiCaprio, Kate Winslet and Billy Zane. This movie delineates the 1912 sinking of the RMS Titanic.

The story begins with the RMS Titanic's maiden voyage. This ship is depicted as the glorious possession of the White Star Line. Nonetheless, its sturdy built does not stop it from encountering problems in the Atlantic's gelid waters.

Incontrovertibly, the highlight of the plot is the hapless love affair between Rose DeWitt Bukater and Jack Dawson who hail from different social classes. The use of first-person narration lends authenticity to the plot and the employment of the actual Titanic's footage has created a surreal atmosphere.

The film moguls also utilised a number of trailers to promote this movie. Other than that, the beauty of Titanic is that the movie is very close to the real tragedy and tugs at our heartstrings with the final song "Nearer My God to Thee".

This movie certainly deserves raving reviews. In brief, adults of all ages should watch the story unfold whilst enjoying the romance intertwining historical values offered in the movie.

QUESTION: Your teacher asked you whether you prefer to travel to local destinations or to foreign tourist spots. State your choice and give 3 reasons for your answer. Write too about a place that you would love to visit and give one reason for wanting to go there.

This image shows a full page of white paper with horizontal blue or grey ruling lines. The lines are evenly spaced and run across the width of the page, typical of notebook paper. There are no margins, text, or other markings on the page.

SAMPLE ANSWER

Travelling is a vivifying form of activity that can also be considered as a pastime. It is believed that 7 out of 10 people like to go travelling during the holidays. Indeed, they need this respite away from the hectic schedule of their daily lives. People often travel abroad. On my part, I love travelling to local destinations.

Indubitably, I love to visit local destinations in lieu of visiting foreign tourist spots as it is more affordable. This is because, the flight fare is cheaper. Normally, we can also drive our own convertibles to places around Malaysia. In other words, we do not have to go through the hassle of boarding a flight or a luxury cruise. Consequently, we will not feel weary or enervated as when travelling overseas. This is due to the fact that we will not have to go through a lot of red tape or bureaucracy as we complete the paperwork and do our medical check-ups.

Furthermore, I prefer to travel around Malaysia so as to support our local economy. In truth, after the advent of the pandemic, our country has suffered huge financial losses. Hence, I want to do my share in helping Malaysia rise above the monetary conundrums that assail her from time to time. In brief, I do not want to spend my money supporting another country's economy.

I believe that there are a number of elysian tourist places in Malaysia. Nonetheless, the place that I would love to visit is Malacca with its antiquated shops and colonial edifices. In fact, I want to visit Malacca to try and understand our Malaysian heritage with its native craft and the like.

SAMPLE ANSWER: Camping in Lemon Grove

The summer holidays are an exceptional time of the year when school going children attend camps and participate in a miscellany of programmes in a bid to de-stress and find a modicum of serenity away from the hullabaloo of their daily lives. Indeed, Lemon Grove which is located in the peripheral area of Muar is an ideal place for summer camps due to its close proximity to the legendary Mount Ophir.

The nonpareil campsite is well-equipped with a gallimaufry of camping paraphernalia and facilities. By way of illustration, there are a number of bijou rooms for those who do not think that it is romantic to sleep out in the open under a canopy of gleaming stars. These kids can sleep in de rigueur bunkbeds without being bothered by a swarm of mosquitoes as well as annoying arachnids. For those more adventurous teenagers with a penchant for the outdoors, there are 20 tents that are rented out for RM100 apiece for a 3-day stay. In addition to that, there are numerous shower stalls and latrines to cater to the campers' needs.

Lemon Grove is popular with campers because it is the only camping place that has a restaurant that prepares packed lunches for the campers. This eatery too specialises in salubrious vegetarian fare although variegated types of casserole dishes and pot pies are also prepared for people who favour a meaty diet. Furthermore, Lemon Grove is an awe-inspiring spot as during the nocturnal hours, campers can prepare their own dinner with the cooking stoves and barbecue grill sets that can be found outside the rooms.

The campground proprietor has ensured that all campers have a thrilling time at camp. Here, in Lemon Grove, there is a maze of hiking trails that lead hikers to a beguiling waterfall at the foothills of a forested mountain. Besides, the visitors can also go fishing in tiny sampans and simultaneously luxuriate in the viridescent beauty of the tropical forests on both sides of the deep rill that cuts through the camping site. Indubitably, the campers can also do a spot of canoeing and birdwatching.

If you are thinking of going on a summer camp, then you should opt to go to Lemon Grove as it offers a wide range of activities to teenagers of all temperaments. Those reticent ones can revel in the quietude by taking a ramble in its Brobdingnagian butterfly garden. Meanwhile, teenagers who are considered extroverts can take part in a talentime that is organised every other day. It will be truly invigorating to be part of the experience.

QUESTION: Write an account of a trip to a native settlement.
Describe your feelings.

[illegible]

SAMPLE ANSWER

The crimson sky marked the dawn of day as I started on a school trip to a native settlement in the district of Kuala Langat. The zephyr blew in through the window of the bus that made its way to the destination at record speed. Indeed, I was thrilled to think that I was going to experience a very different lifestyle.

After a 2-hour long journey from the city, we arrived at the Mah Meri Cultural Village in Carey Island. Once we reached our destination, we converged to the huge building where we were served iced lemonade and a salmagundi of savoury cakes. Gleefully, we tucked into our mouth-watering breakfast fare as the Mah Meri youth welcomed us with the Jo'oh Dance. Later, we were shown around the village.

Next on our agenda was a tiny museum full of wooden sculptures that portrayed the indigenous people's lifestyle. Their craftsmen carve wooden sculptures and figurines of various deities as well as spirits. It intrigued us no end to know that these sculptures are, more often than not, used by their shamans during exorcism rituals. Other than these exceptional items, the Mah Meri also make wooden masks that have caused them to be widely known as "The Masked Men of Malaysia".

On our visit, we also witnessed a mock Mah Meri wedding which involved a miscellany of customs including dancing around an anthill and hiding the bride just before the auspicious ceremony started. Then we attended a workshop to learn palm leaf origami and tree-bark cloth making. We were, undoubtedly, overawed by the Mah Meri's expertise at wood carving. At noon, we stopped to eat a sumptuous meal that comprised seafood delicacies, roasted sweet potatoes and glutinous rice wrapped in banana leaves. While we ate, we were entertained with all kinds of folklore, myths and legends.

As the birds were returning to their abode in the bushes, we prepared to return to the city. Before we left, we bought several souvenirs for our relatives and friends. Some of us bought handwoven bracelets and baskets in variegated colours while others settled for exquisite wooden key holders. In truth, we were rather thankful that we had been given the opportunity to visit a native village.

SAMPLE ANSWER: An embarrassing account

I walked towards the Experiment Theatre located in a rustic part of University Malaya where secondary jungles flanked the viridescent fields and colonial edifices that brought memories of a bygone era. The sweltering sun beat down on craggy tarred roads as I slogged on, unperturbed by the ominous clouds swirling upon the puce-coloured firmament.

When I arrived at my destination, I ambled around the gargantuan building in search of my friends ,Phillip ,Veronica and Shalini. The four of us were bosom friends who did almost everything together whenever we were in the perimeter of the campus. Today, we wanted to secretly watch our lecturers practising for a grand theatre event that was scheduled to be held in a fortnight. I found my friends in the latticed foyer, discussing and talking in loud whispers.

Phillip grinned at me when I snuggled in between Shalini and Veronica. "Are you scared, Rose? Please, don't be. I will protect you with my life and chivalrous action should anything go amiss", he quipped. I gave him a quizzical look before telling them that I could only stay until 6 pm as a storm was imminent. All of them nodded and hugged me. Phillip voiced their mutual feelings when he said, "Thanks a million, Rosie. Your presence will help us camouflage our true intentions". I understood what he meant as I was Ms Harben's fair-haired student as she always took the time to buy me an assortment of chocolates besides counselling when I was in the dumps.

As the afternoon shadows lengthened, we hid behind the red velvet drape curtains that lent a touch of enigma to a typical day .We were young and energetic and thoughtless ,without a care in the world. Consequently ,we were not tormented by any sense of guilt or remorse as we trespassed into the private domain of our lecturers who were busy with their theatre practice. From behind the shelter of the lattice, I watched them keen-sightedly, never missing a move. Veronica did more than watch. She urged me to record them on my phone so that we would be able to circulate the said video amongst our course mates.

Being naive , I did my level best to comply to her wishes by taking a video of Ms Harben as she twirled around and exchanged pleasant rejoinders to Mr Henry's comical words. All of a sudden ,Shalini sneezed. It precipitated a hush as everyone stood still as if in a tableau. Then all hell was set loose and there was a pandemonium as our lecturers ran towards the foyer to apprehend us. Of course ,they reprimanded us and instructed the four of us to leave. Mr Henry also managed to snatch my smartphone in a bid to delete the tell-tale pictures and videos. "I would never have guessed that you are capable of such sly behaviour", Mr Henry chided me. My cheeks immediately turned a scarlet red as I endeavoured to hide my embarrassment. In truth, it was such a mortifying experience.

Report on Monthly Magazine

Introduction

Students are, more often than not, beleaguered by a dearth of information pertinent to the daily occurrences in the perimeter of the school. Indubitably, the monthly magazine will keep the students well - informed about the activities and programmes that had been held throughout that month. Students too will be given a scintilla of information pertaining to the school's achievements in the past weeks.

Regular Feature

Green Lungs, a naturalists' column can be featured in this magazine so as to encourage students to safeguard the viridian beauty of the school compound by not littering. Funds too can be collected via naturalists' activities which are publicised in the column. Another activity that can be featured is "The Benevolent Hearts Project" that teaches students to do an act of kindness on a daily basis before jotting it down in their dairies. There can also be a counselling column where people can air their grouses and grievances. Every month, a new activity can take precedence over others.

Types of Articles

The magazine in question can publish humorous and witty articles that touch on the school's culture and traditions. This will enhance the students' knowledge about their alma mater. The school's rules and regulations too can be delineated in the pages of the magazine. This will help the management and the Prefectorial Board to ensure that discipline is adhered to. The school magazine can also put up articles pertinent to contemporary issues such as the ways to hinder the pandemic.

Recommendation

I feel that a salmagundi of articles reviewing literary works and doing a commentary on the school's athletes ought to be published. The students' interest can be elicited by preparing articles that make reading fun.
