Semporna Island: A Review

By: Aqil Aiman bin Umair Najmi

Do you like travelling? Imagine swimming among the fish in a deep blue ocean and then enjoy the view while eating fresh seafood. This is what Semporna Island is all about.

For your information, Semporna Island is located in south-eastern coast of Sabah. This island is a heaven for divers and nature lovers alike. In fact, you can participate in both water and extreme sports.

Recently, I had the opportunity to go to Semporna. I fell in love with this island and I really enjoyed my stay there. As I arrived in Semporna, I was warmly welcomed by the locals. They were all very friendly. The tourist guide, Issam, was very friendly. We had a long conversation on our way to my accommodation. He recounted the long history of the island. I truly enjoyed his company.

After I had enough rest, Issam took me to his village. The villagers greeted and then invited me for dinner. There were a lot of exquisite and exotic Sabahan food for me to enjoy. For example, there was smoked fish and steamed lobster. What intrigued me the most was the fresh sago worm served with a special sauce. At first, it felt weird in my mouth but the aftertaste was so juicy and scrumptious. Before I left, I took photos to commemorate their hospitality.

On the next day, Issam took me to Mabul Island. Issam told me that this place is a hidden gem for divers. Then, my new friend taught me how to wear and use scuba diving equipment. I spent over two hours enjoying the beauty of the underwater. There were beautiful reefs where colourful fish hid in them. Occasionally, jellyfish and weird-looking fish swam past me. I was truly in a heaven!

Before leaving, I bid Issam goodbye and exchanged our number. I also gave him my favourite jacket as a token of friendship. I did not only enjoyed my stay here but also found a friend in Issam.

Overall, this adventure in Semporna was not cheap but it was worth every penny I spent there. In all honesty, I would totally recommend Semporna to my friends if they want unforgettable experience.

C1 – Which movie? – Train To Busan

C2 – Likes and dislikes? – 1. Like – main actor / 2. Like – Korean-style zombies / 3. Dislike – the ending

C3 – Recommend to others? Why? – Yes / has everything zombie lovers need

Train To Busan: A Review

By: Ain Zakirah binti Dani Hisham

Do you like movies about zombies? Imagine when you need to escape from zombies that are spreading their virus. This is what Train To Busan is all about.

For your information, Train To Busan is an action thriller movie from South Korea. The main actor is Gong Yoo who wants to send his daughter to her mom who lives in Busan. However, a sinister virus was spread along the journey turning everyone into zombies. We follow Gong Yoo's struggle with a few other passengers to escape the zombies. Will they succeed? You need to watch this movie if you want to know what happens to them.

Recently, I have watched this movie. There are a few things I love about it. The main reason I watched the movie is because of Gong Yoo, the main actor. He looked dashing and so handsome throughout the movie. I especially love the way he takes care of his daughter. Next, I also love Korean version of zombies. Typically, western zombies are depicted as slow-moving creatures. However, Korean zombies are not only blood-thirsty but also aggressive. They are very responsive to the smell of blood. Their scream is blood-curdling and I was so scared because of how real they look.

Even though this movie has a lot of good points, I personally think that it has some things to improve. I watched throughout the movie looking for the source of the virus but I was deeply disappointed. The source of the virus was never mentioned and it suddenly spread and cause a plague. Another thing I dislike is the ending. While it was heart-warming to see the daughter reunited with her mom, it broke my heart completely to see Gong Yoo turned into the abomination. I really hate it when a main character dies in a story.

In brief, Train To Busan was one of the best zombie movies I have ever watched and it has surpassed all my expectations. I would give this movie 9 out of 10 stars and I highly recommend it to all fellow zombie lovers out there because it has everything zombie lovers need.

First Touch: A Review / First Touch: Heaven for Book Lovers

By: Husna Hanina binti Zulfadhil Syahir

Do you love reading books? Imagine a space filled with the smell of new books and an endless supply of stationeries where you can sit and enjoy aromatic coffee there. Situated in the heart of Kuala Nerang, next to the iconic KFC outlet, is the newly opened book store called First Touch.

Recently, I went there with my family. As I walked through the entrance, I was greeted by the pleasant smell of books and aromatic coffee. The bookstore was bustling with people from all walks of life. What makes this bookstore so special? The first thing that amazed me was the books I found on the shelves. The assortment of books covers variety of genres ranging from children picture books to reference books. For example, my youngest sister grabbed a Frozen picture book with fancy stickers while I picked several reference books for SPM.

Although we had so many books in our cart, we only paid half of the actual price. How is this possible? For your information, this bookstore offers a lifetime membership for only RM5. Not only the books here are priced reasonably, but you will get additional discount with your membership card. In fact, this bookstore provides a special area where you can sit and enjoy your read while being accompanied by your favourite cup of joe. For example, while my siblings and I were busy searching for our books, my parents sat in the area enjoying iced mocha and matcha bubble tea.

To sum up, First Touch made me fall in love at first sight and should be your first choice to find your reading and writing needs. I would certainly recommend this bookstore to my friends because First Touch is definitely a heaven for all book lovers.
